Why you'll like it

This beautifully presented two-bedroom end-of-terrace cottage is situated in the Barley Cote area of Riddlesden, on the outskirts of Keighley. Immaculately maintained and ready to move into, the property combines traditional cottage character with modern touches, creating a comfortable and appealing home that is particularly well suited to first-time buyers, couples or those seeking a manageable property.

The accommodation comprises a welcoming reception room and a newly fitted kitchen, finished to a high standard and providing a practical space for everyday living and dining. A useful storage cellar offers valuable additional space, while the versatile attic occasional room provides further flexibility and could be used for hobbies, home working or storage, subject to the necessary consents.

To the front of the property is a pleasant seating area, providing a perfect spot to enjoy some outdoor space and adding to the cottage's appeal.

The property is conveniently located Right on the edge of the countryside, yet conveniently located on the outskirts of Keighley, with the town centre and its wide range of amenities within easy reach. Keighley provides a good selection of supermarkets, shops, cafés, leisure facilities and everyday services, while the surrounding area offers access to a variety of countryside and outdoor spaces.

For commuters, Keighley railway station provides regular services to Leeds and Bradford, with typical journey times of approximately 30–40 minutes, together with connections across the wider West Yorkshire network. Located on the K4 bus route operating between Keighley and surrounding towns and villages, providing further transport options.

Combining character, modern presentation and versatile additional space, this attractive two-bedroom cottage offers a ready-to-move-into home in a convenient position on the outskirts of Keighley.
