Overall Description

This 1930's mid-terraced house sits in a pleasant residential location close to good schools, making it popular with young families. This property has three good-sized bedrooms upstairs, with a downstairs bathroom and there is potential to convert the large loft into further bedrooms if so desired, as other properties have in the area (this can be done under permitted development rights although will need building regulations approval). Downstairs there is also an entrance hall, sitting/dining room, kitchen and garden room, which could be replaced with a kitchen/dining/family room extension if so desired (again, under permitted development rights). The property is in good decorative order and has gas-fired central heating and double-glazed windows. The large front and back gardens are a real feature of this property as they have been skilfully landscaped, with well-stocked flowerbeds, making them somewhere to enjoy all year around. The back garden even has a large workshop which has potential for conversion for other uses such as a home office, teenagers' den or gym. If you are looking for a spacious family home with potential, in a good child-friendly area, then look no further.

Location

The property is situated in a quiet residential location in sought-after West Cheshunt, so is nice and peaceful with little passing traffic, making it ideal for young families. There are several good schools in the immediate area including the Bonneygrove Primary School, Broxbourne Buttercups Pre-School and Goffs Academy, all just up the road. There are a handy row of local shops just a five minute walk away including a doctor's surgery. The centre of Cheshunt has a good range of shops, supermarkets and other amenities and The Brookfield Shopping Centre is just up the A10. The property has easy access to road and rail links with Cheshunt Railway Station providing regular trains to London Liverpool Street (less than 30 mins away) and the A10 giving fast access to the M25, London and beyond.
