Tadworthy – Coastal Living at Its Finest

Positioned off Golf Links Road, Tadworthy enjoys a superb coastal setting within a level walk of Westward Ho!'s expansive sandy beach, village shops, cafés, bars and restaurants, as well as the renowned Royal North Devon Golf Club.

From morning walks along the shoreline and an evening surf to a leisurely meal overlooking the Atlantic, this is a location where the coast can truly become part of everyday life. For those who enjoy exploring on foot, the dramatic cliffs at Abbotsham and Greencliff offer breathtaking walks, with sweeping sea views and spectacular scenery along the South West Coast Path.

The nearby coastal villages of Instow and Appledore offer even more to discover, each with its own distinctive character and charm.

Instow combines a golden sandy beach with a thriving village community, welcoming pubs, excellent restaurants and a popular local deli. Fishing boats bob on the estuary, while views across the water towards Appledore provide a picturesque backdrop for a beach walk, a relaxed lunch or drinks as the sun sets. The Tarka Trail also passes through the village, offering scenic walking and cycling routes towards Bideford, Fremington and Barnstaple. During the operating season, a pedestrian ferry connects Instow with Appledore, making the short journey across the estuary an enjoyable outing in itself.

Across the water, Appledore is renowned for its rich maritime heritage and charming narrow streets, lined with quaint fishermen's cottages and colourful properties leading down to the Quay. Independent shops, a local deli, traditional pubs and excellent eateries, including award-winning dining, contribute to the village's welcoming atmosphere and vibrant local community.
