Tucked away at the foot of Hoad Hill and set back from the roadside, this charming end-terrace home offers an ideal opportunity for those seeking a holiday retreat, investment property, or permanent residence. Full of character, the property features a cosy lounge with a slate-flagged floor, solid fuel stove, and useful understairs storage, while the modern fitted kitchen includes integrated appliances, space for additional white goods, and access to a small yard and external store. To the first floor are two bedrooms, both with built-in storage, with the rear bedroom enjoying views towards Hoad Hill and glimpses of the Sir John Barrow Monument, together with a well-appointed shower room fitted with a three-piece suite.
