Dial Post

Dial Post is a small village located in the Horsham district of West Sussex, England. The village is situated on the A24 road, which connects London to Worthing. Dial Post is surrounded by beautiful countryside and is a popular destination for walkers and cyclists. The village has a small population of around 300 people and is known for its peaceful and tranquil atmosphere.

Dial Post is also home to a number of local businesses, including a pub, and a village hall. The village hall is a popular venue for community events and is used for a variety of activities, including fitness classes, dance classes, and social events. The pub, The Crown Inn, is a traditional English pub and serves a range of food and drinks. Overall, Dial Post is a charming village with a strong sense of community and a rich history.
