A rare opportunity to purchase a homely, detached, traditional home of generous proportions, sympathetically converted by the owners 30 years ago from an original 1800s period barn and significantly extended to create spacious accommodation which lies in the region of 4,000 sq.ft. Additional outbuildings provide further guest or office suites, adding to the versatility of this truly unique home.

The property occupies a well proportioned, established plot lying in the region of 0.32 of an acre, set well back from the lane behind an electric gated frontage with ample parking and well maintained gardens to three sides. The gardens are well stocked with a variety of mature trees and shrubs and afford both a pleasant open outlook across to adjacent fields and the Belvoir escarpment to the south as well as delightful views across to the pretty Grade II listed 13th century St Helen's Church situated next door.

Internally this home offers a considerable level of versatility boasting four main reception rooms plus a conservatory, a well proportioned farmhouse style kitchen with electric Aga and utility off, cloak room and separate WC. To the first floor there are five well proportioned bedrooms, three of which are ensuite, an additional dressing room and a large family bathroom.

There may be some cosmetic updating required based on today's requirements but the property is well maintained and presented throughout with replacement double glazed windows and gas central heating.

As well as the internal accommodation the property also offers a range of outbuildings. A "dovecote" contains a stable, currently used as storage, with a converted guest suite above which includes a double bedroom and ensuite, creating a useful detached space away from the house, perfect for teenagers or guests. In addition is a larger outbuilding, the "bothy", which extends to approximately 1,000 sq.ft. and provides a two storey, traditional brick building which is part converted and has been previously utilised as an office/workshop with WC. This offers immense potential for creation of an annex space, perfect for teenagers, elderly parents, guests or a home office or games room. In addition there is a further brick built garage and workshop and a further attached garage to the rear.

The property offers excellent transport links to local grammar schools with dedicated buses from directly outside.

Overall this is a wonderful opportunity to purchase a truly individual, well proportioned home with further potential, situated within this pretty Vale of Belvoir village with stunning open aspects. In addition the property is offered to the market with no upward chain.
