DESCRIPTION

A mixed-use freehold building on Green Lanes, comprising a ground-floor shop unit and four self-contained flats arranged over 5 levels. The configuration offers a rare combination of commercial and residential income from a single title, with scope for an investor to hold long-term or to reconfigure the upper parts subject to the usual consents.

The shop occupies the front of the ground floor with its own entrance directly onto Green Lanes, suiting a range of retail or service uses (Currently a beauty studio). Behind it, on the same level, sits a compact self-contained studio flat with its own separate kitchen and bathroom. Below, on the lower ground floor, is a 1.5 bedroom flat with a kitchen/dining room, a bathroom, and a private terrace at the rear, an unusual feature at garden level and one that adds real character to the unit.

The first floor holds a 2 bedroom flat with a separate kitchen, a bathroom, and an additional WC, laid out to work well for sharers or a small family. Above this, the largest of the flats spans the second and 3rd floors as a duplex. The entry level has three bedrooms, a bathroom, and its own terrace; the floor above is given over to a kitchen/dining room with a further bedroom and WC; and a top-floor bathroom completes the arrangement. The result is a maisonette with genuine scale, plenty of light, and a layout that lends itself to flexible use.

The property sits on a busy stretch of Green Lanes, well-placed between Stoke Newington, Newington Green and Manor House. Clissold Park is a short walk away, and Manor House Underground, Stoke Newington Overground and a number of bus routes provide straightforward access into central London.

Suitable for investors, owner-occupiers with rental ambitions, or developers looking at a building with clear income in place and room to add value.
