The Accommodation

The ground floor accommodation opens via a warm and inviting reception hall featuring traditional quarry-tiled flooring, exposed wall timbers, and a prominent wooden staircase rising to the first floor. Positioned off the hallway, at the heart of the ground floor is the expansive open-plan kitchen and breakfast room, lined with flagstone flooring and heavily beamed ceilings. The kitchen is equipped with Plain English, handcrafted and bespoke cabinetry, dark worktops, built-in display shelving, and ample space for a large central dining table. Directly connected to the kitchen is a practical utility room fitted with additional wall and base units, space for American-style refrigeration, and side access out to the grounds.

A generous sitting room filled with period charm, highlighting an impressive red-brick inglenook fireplace, heavy ceiling beams, and dual-aspect leaded windows. Directly adjoining is an exceptionally spacious drawing room, framed by timber-framed walls and exposed ceiling beams, providing a versatile formal living and study area with space for a grand piano. The ground floor layout extends into a series of practical day-to-day spaces, including a versatile family room/study, a cloakroom/WC, and a convenient boot room with direct external access.

The first-floor accommodation is centered around a central landing displaying exposed timber framing and wooden balustrades. The principal bedroom suite offers a generous double bedroom enhanced by a decorative feature wall and built-in wardrobes, leading to its own private en-suite bathroom.

Arranged along the remainder of the first floor are three additional well-proportioned double bedrooms, all showcasing characterful sloped ceilings, exposed structural timbers, and leaded windows overlooking the grounds. Serving these rooms is a family bathroom off the hallway, as well as an integrated en-suite shower room to one of the guest bedrooms. The layout is completed by a dedicated dressing room located adjacent to the guest bedrooms.

The self-contained annex provides light-filled living spaces arranged across a single level featuring tiled flooring, exposed ceiling beams, and French doors that open directly onto the patio and gardens. At the centre of the accommodation is an open-plan sitting and bedroom area, complete with bi-folding glazed doors leading outside.
