Crest Nicholson's unique Electricity House development launched in 2014, transforming the iconic 1930s building designed by celebrated architect Sir Giles Gilbert Scott.

The building has been beautifully maintained and showcases original Art Deco features such as the opulent foyer and decorative exterior stonework alongside modern additions including the central atrium that floods the internal areas with natural light.

Situated within walking distance of Park Street, Broadmead, and Cabot Circus, this property offers unbeatable access to the city's top shopping, dining, and entertainment destinations.

This two bedroom apartment features a sleek and contemporary design throughout, including a fully fitted modern kitchen—perfect for city professionals or couples seeking comfort and convenience. The open-plan living space is both bright and welcoming, ideal for relaxing after a day in the city.

Residents benefit from a concierge reception within the building, offering added security and ease of living. With excellent public transport links nearby, including buses and Bristol Temple Meads station within easy reach, commuting in and out of the city is a breeze.

Electricity House is one of only a few developments to offer allocated parking and this apartment is sold with one underground parking space. There is also an excellent onsite concierge service.
