IF YOU LIVED HERE...

Set within a smart, well-kept development, this is a home that feels calm from the outset. Inside, a central hallway connects each room in an easy, practical layout. The main living space is bright and generous, with pale flooring underfoot, soft neutral walls and plenty of room to settle in properly. The open plan kitchen sits neatly to one side, finished in clean white cabinetry with oak worktops and a simple tiled splashback, creating a space that works well for both everyday cooking and relaxed evenings at home.

The bedroom is a comfortable double with a gentle, restful feel, helped along by warm tones and good natural light. The bathroom is neatly finished with white tiling, a bath with overhead shower and a straightforward, unfussy style. Altogether, it's a home with an easy sense of balance, well cared for, light filled and ready to move into.

WHAT ELSE?

Orford Road and the heart of Walthamstow Village are just a short stroll away, placing independent shops, cosy cafés and favourite spots like Eat17 and The Nag's Head close at hand. Lloyd Park, God's Own Junkyard and Wood Street Indoor Market are all nearby too, while Walthamstow Central is within walking distance for fast Victoria line and Overground connections across London. Gated residents' parking is a rare bonus in this location, and the property is offered with a share of freehold.

A WORD FROM THE OWNER...

"Walthamstow Village has long been one of East London's most desirable places to live.
