THE AREA

St Annes Drive is a popular residential street off Aylestone Road just a short walk from the old Village centre and convenient for all of the local amenities.

Aylestone is an extremely popular suburb of Leicester standing approx. 3.5 miles south of the city centre. Until 1896 Aylestone was a village but was incorporated in the city following the 1891 Leicester extension act.

The area around the centre including the shops, bars and restaurants, and the 13th Century St. Andrews Church still very much has the feel of a village community and is very popular today due in part to its proximity to the city centre, Fosse Retail Park and the motorway network.

Aylestone Meadows is a 22 acre nature reserve to the West of the area where the River Sence flows into the River Soar and The Grand Union Canal which was once a major transport link through the city. A high value wildlife area with a medieval packhorse bridge is now considered to be the largest such area in Leicester and very popular with families, dog walkers and cyclists.
