

Whenever we are invited to value or indeed sell one of the lovely properties on Spilsby Road, two things immediately come to mind: A hugely desirable area... and space shouldn't be an issue for anyone. These two thoughts are of course intrinsically linked, since room sizes are naturally important to so many buyers, and the room sizes here are excellent. But the desirability is also a testament to the architecture of the properties and the convenience of the location, being walking distance of the town amenities, Primary schools, Boston High School and being close to the hospital.

This particular property also has the benefit of having just undergone a substantial refurbishment, so offers a great combination of contemporary and period features. Highlights include an updated kitchen with granite worktops and underfloor heating, new gas central heating and boiler and slide-and-tilt sash windows.

Once inside, the property feels every bit as light and spacious as the photos suggest, thanks to the lovely neutral décor. The property is also notable for being one with a more conventional layout, which should suit the needs of most families. The ground floor comprises lounge with Clearview wood-burner, dining room, kitchen and cloakroom. The first floor is similarly spacious with a four-piece bathroom and three double bedrooms. There is also a fourth room with doors to both the landing and master bedroom, which could be an ideal nursery but also serve as an office, dressing room or en-suite perhaps. Outside the property has block-paved space to the front and an established garden to the rear with security lighting front and rear. Buyers hoping to move quickly will note that the property has the added benefit of no onward chain.
