"Gallowhill House", is a unique opportunity to acquire a formidable detached dwelling located within the heart of Lenzie. The entire subjects require extensive modernisation, allowing any buyer the opportunity to reconfigure/design to suit individual requirements and specification. The private plot (approx 3/4 acre), affords the potential to extend/develop subject to local planning constraints, including the many outbuildings, which allow scope for business opportunities or granny flat accommodation.

The original house dates from 1741 and then was subsequently extended in Victorian times. Accommodation comprises entrance vestibule, the former grand reception hallway leads to two spacious reception rooms to the front, a home/office/study/bed 6 downstairs, the formal dining room faces out onto the side gardens and gives access to the working traditional kitchen off. The rear entrance has a small hallway and gives access to the downstairs shower facilities.

The elegant staircase gives access to the bathroom on the half landing, flowing naturally to the upper level of the home. The master bedroom is an enviable size with stunning views over the front garden ground. There is a small room which leads to another double front facing bedroom, the 3rd bedroom is also a generous double with a small high window to the side. Bedroom 4 and 5 are singles with combed ceilings. Both of these rooms give access to the useful and impressive eave storage.

Externally the property sits within an extensive plot which offers a degree of privacy from neighbouring properties. The garden ground provides the opportunity to develop the space to provide a magnificent outdoor environment in which to relax and/or entertain. The sweeping driveway is accessed from Larch Ave which brings you in at the side of the property.

Although many original features are presented, maintenance and major refurbishment is required to ensure longevity. The home report reflects a number of findings for observation.
