Property Introduction

This deceptive cottage has been extended to the rear to create additional accommodation, some work has been carried out on the cottage to update it, however, potential buyers should be aware that there is further work required to complete this project. The accommodation consists of an entrance porch with access to a lounge and generous utility/store. From the lounge is a separate dining room with stairs to the first floor and access to a refitted kitchen with a door leading off to a bathroom which requires fitting out. On the first floor a spacious landing leads to the four bedrooms and a refitted bathroom. Double glazed, there is LPG gas central heating and several of the rooms feature exposed stone walls, beamed ceilings and original stone fire surrounds. To the outside there is parking at the front for three cars whilst the rear garden is enclosed, lawned and has a timber storage shed to the rear. In summary, an ideal property for those looking for a project to complete to their own specification, viewing our interactive virtual tour is strongly recommended prior to arranging a viewing.

Location

Whitcross Hill, which is on the slopes of Carn Brea, is surrounded by rugged countryside, open moorland and is an ideal location for walking, exploring Cornwall's rich mining heritage and enjoying the peace and tranquillity of the Cornish countryside. Within three quarters of a mile one will find the village of Pool which is a mecca for out of town shopping outlets and gives direct access on to the A30 trunk road. The nearest major town, which is Redruth, will be found within three miles and here there is a mainline railway station with direct links to London Paddington and the north of England. Within three quarters of a mile one will find the hamlet of Piece which is linked to the village of Carnkie and at Piece there is a well respected local pub and access on to the mineral tramways walkway. Truro, the administrative and cultural centre of Cornwall, is within thirteen miles, Falmouth on the south coast, which is Cornwall's university town, is within nine miles and the rugged north coast village of Portreath is within six miles and is noted for its sandy beach and active harbour.
