Claremont Hall is an impressive period building set along Highdale Road in the highly regarded hillside area of Clevedon, within easy reach of the ever-popular Hill Road. This first-floor apartment enjoys a wonderful sense of scale and character, combined with far-reaching views across the town towards the Mendip Hills and Crook's Peak. Offered with no onward chain, it presents an appealing opportunity for those seeking a well-located home with both charm and convenience.

The accommodation is arranged around a welcoming hallway that leads through the apartment. The living room sits to the front of the property, enjoying a bright south-facing aspect with a striking bay window that draws in natural light and frames the elevated outlook. A feature fireplace adds a focal point to the room, enhancing its warmth and character. The kitchen is neatly recessed off the rear wall, designed to be practical yet discreet within the living space. Two well-proportioned double bedrooms continue along the hallway, offering comfortable and versatile accommodation, complemented by a centrally located bathroom.

Externally, the property benefits from an allocated parking space along with additional visitor parking, a valuable advantage in this sought-after hillside position. The communal entrance to Claremont Hall is particularly striking, with an impressive triple-height hallway and an elegant cantilevered staircase wrapping around the original architectural features, setting the tone for the building's character and heritage.

Positioned within one of Clevedon's most desirable residential areas, the apartment is ideally placed for access to coastal walks, independent shops, cafés, and everyday amenities, while also offering excellent connections for commuting.

In conclusion, this is a charming and well-located apartment that combines period character, generous proportions, and far-reaching views, all within a landmark building in a prime hillside setting.

“A home with height, light, and timeless Clevedon charm.”
