Pirton is a picturesque village in North Hertfordshire, located around three miles northwest of Hitchin and close to the Bedfordshire border. With a population of just over 1,400, it offers a peaceful rural setting while remaining within commuting distance of London.

Rich in history, Pirton dates back to the Domesday Book, where it was recorded as "Peritone," meaning "homestead of pears." The village features many historic buildings, including St Mary's Church and the remains of a Norman motte-and-bailey castle at Toot Hill.

Surrounded by attractive countryside on the edge of the Chiltern Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, Pirton is popular with walkers, particularly along the ancient Icknield Way, and has a strong, active community with local amenities and traditional pubs.
