Blaenllain Dihewyd, Lampeter, SA48 7QR

Asking Price £399,950

Tucked away in the peaceful countryside on the outskirts of Dihewyd, Blaenllain is a charming 2 acre smallholding offering a rare blend of character, comfort, and natural beauty. This delightful 3 bedroom detached Welsh longhouse has been thoughtfully refurbished to combine its historic charm with modern, energy-efficient living through air source heating and solar panels, ensuring low running costs and a sustainable living environment. The property is not just a home; it is a nature lover's paradise, surrounded by vibrant meadows and bordered by trees, creating a haven for wildlife.

Situated in a peaceful location, the smallholding shares its surroundings with just one neighbour, allowing for a serene atmosphere while still being conveniently close to the bustling town of Lampeter offering everyday amenities, and the stunning coastal town of Aberaeron, providing the perfect balance of rural tranquillity and coastal adventure.

This property truly embodies the essence of country living, offering both comfort and a connection to nature. Whether you are looking for a permanent residence or a weekend retreat, this cottage is the perfect choice for those who appreciate the beauty of rural life.

Location

The property is delightfully located adjoining a quiet country lane being just over a mile long, shared with a few other properties overlooking open countryside, having an unusual north-south axis to take full advantage of the morning sun to the rear and the spectacular sunsets to the front. Although tucked away, the property remains conveniently located for the popular Ceredigion coastline with the harbour town of Aberaeron being just a 15-minute drive away, renowned for its cafés, restaurants, bars, and independent shops, as well as being an important employment hub for the area. The charming seaside fishing village of New Quay, famous for its sandy beaches, is also within easy reach while inland, the traditional market town of Lampeter offers a wide range of everyday amenities, including supermarkets, dentists, doctors, and useful bank.

Description

The property comprises of an original Welsh long house that has been tastefully refurbished to improve the efficiency of this lovely home while retaining the character features, having lovely oak ledge and brace doors, slate tile flooring and traditional fireplace.
