Set within the popular residential area of Fernworthy Park in Copplestone, this link-detached home offers comfortable family living with a layout that can adapt easily as needs change. Copplestone is a well served Mid Devon village with a strong community feel, offering a village shop, primary school, church and both bus services and a railway station with regular services towards Exeter and Barnstaple. The nearby town of Crediton provides a wider range of amenities and is only a short drive away.

Inside, the accommodation is well arranged and naturally light. The main sitting room forms a generous living space and flows through to the extended dining area, creating a sociable setting for both everyday life and entertaining. The kitchen sits to the rear with a good range of storage and workspace and opens onto a decked terrace overlooking the garden. There is also a ground floor cloakroom which is a great addition. One of the most useful rooms in the house is the study, which has underfloor heating and doors opening onto the terrace. It works equally well as a home office, playroom or occasional fourth bedroom depending on how the space is needed. Upstairs there are three bedrooms along with the family bathroom, giving the house a layout that suits family life or those needing space to work from home.

Outside, the south-facing rear garden is a real feature, it's enclosed and enjoys good sunlight through the day, with space for seating, play or planting. To the front there is driveway parking providing convenient off-road parking as well as an east to maintain front garden, setting it back from the road.

Overall, this is a well balanced home in a popular village setting, offering flexible living space and a sunny garden within easy reach of local amenities and transport links.
