DESCRIPTION

Beards Farmhouse is a handsome Grade II Listed Devon longhouse, beautifully presented throughout and blending period character with modern comfort. The traditional cross passage with original timber panelling and muntin screen sets the tone, while a granite fireplace, exposed beams and flagstone floors add to the sense of history.

The layout is versatile, with a snug and adjoining shower room that can form a self-contained suite with its own entrance. All complemented by cottage-style gardens with quiet spots by the River Mardle, together with a detached garage block that includes a workshop, store and an upper floor room providing useful space for hobbies or storage.

ACCOMMODATION

The cross passage entrance hall, with its historic timber panelling and muntin screen, leads to the main sitting room, a generous reception space with an inglenook granite fireplace with bread oven, window seats and access to a light and airy office. On the other side of the hall is the snug / bedroom 4, a cosy room with exposed beams that could also serve as a ground floor bedroom. With its direct link to the utility and shower room, and its own entrance door, this part of the house can create a self-contained suite for guests, extended family or independent living.

The kitchen and dining room, fitted with a quality Barnes of Ashburton kitchen, form the heart of the home. This space has been cleverly extended with a vaulted glazed roof and French doors that open directly onto the gardens, creating a bright and welcoming area for everyday life and entertaining.

Upstairs there are three double bedrooms, each full of character, including a generous principal suite with fitted wardrobes and a large en suite bathroom. The remaining bedrooms are served by a well-finished family bathroom.

OUTSIDE

The property is approached directly onto a gravel driveway with ample parking and turning space. The detached garage block stands to one side and incorporates a large workshop, a store room and an upper floor store, providing useful space for storage or hobbies alongside the practical garaging.

The gardens are beautifully landscaped, with a cottage-style front garden edged with stone walling and planting that frames the house. To the rear and side, mature lawns are interspersed with established fruit trees, borders and seating areas that take full advantage of the peaceful setting. Beyond the gardens the land leads to an orchard and runs down to the River Mardle, creating a natural and picturesque boundary. In all the grounds extend to about 0.85 acres.
