Ruardean Hill is a small village located in the Forest of Dean district of Gloucestershire. It is situated on a hilltop in the northern part of the Forest of Dean, approximately 15 miles (24 kms) west of the cathedral city of Gloucester.

Known for its scenic views and its location within the beautiful natural surroundings of the Forest of Dean, the village offers a tranquil and rural atmosphere, making it an ideal place for those seeking a peaceful lifestyle.

While Ruardean Hill is a small village, it offers some essential amenities for residents including a primary school and a village hall. Additionally, the village is in proximity to nearby towns and villages where further services and facilities can be found.

Ruardean Hill provides access to outdoor activities and nature trails, with opportunities for walking, cycling, and exploring the woodlands. Nearby attractions such as Symonds Yat and the Wye Valley are within easy reach.

Two front aspect doors lead into the kitchen and sitting room.
